BATURDAY MORNING JOHN BOSS.

d: The mighty Chief is dead: on to the Salten's head! a unused to tears, to-day, up, in corrow, o'er his clay. Dend! Let all his People mours, Sictoben, ellent, and fortorn :— Let them gare, with sed surprise On this costly secrifice.

Dead! That they might live, to be Faithful, prosperous, and free; Theirs, alone, his latest breath; Theirs his life, and theirs his death

Dead! We stand around his hier; Ended is his great career:— But we know, though life is o'er, He is doubliese, overmore.

Dead helow, he lives on high; Lives where Virius cannot die; Lives where God new line; Lives in all the services of the lives in all the services lives in all the gazets as Hase Janvirn. surror, D. C., August 3, 1868.

National Union Convention.

delegates from each congressional dis tary, two from the District of Columbia, and four delegates at large from each State, will be held at the city of Philadelphia, on the second Tuesday (14th) of August next.

four delegates at large from each State, will be held at the city of Philadelphia, on the second Tuesday (14th) of August next.

Such delegates will be chosen by the electors of the several States who sustain the Administration in maintaining unbroken the union of the States under the Constitution which our fathers established, and who agree in the following propositions, viz:

The union of the States is, in every case, indissoluble, and is perpetual; and the Constitution of the United States, and the laws passed by Congress in pursuance thereof, supreme and constant, and universal in their obligation;

The rights, the dignity, and the equality of the States in the Union, including the right of representation in Congress, are solemnly guaranteed by that Constitution, to save which from overthrow so much blood and treasure were expended in the late civil war;

There is no right, anywhere, to dissolve the Union, either by voluntary withdrawal, by force of arms, or by congressional action; neither by the secession of the States, nor by the exclusion of their loyal and qualified representatives, nor by the national Government in any other form;

Slavery is abolished, and neither can, nor ought to be, re-established in any State or Territory within our jurisdiction;

Each State has the undoubted right to prescribe the qualifications of its own electors, and no external power rightfully can, or ought to, dictate, control, or influence the free and voluntary action of the States in the exercise of that right;

The maintenance inviolate of the right of each State to order and control its own domestic concerns, according to its own judgment exclusively, subject only to the Constitution of the United States, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depend, and the overthrow of that system by the usurpation and centralization of power in Congress would be a revolution, dangerous to republican government and destructive of liberty;

Each House of Congress is made, acts and proceedings everywhere, which can serve no other purpose than to rekindle the animosities of war, and the effect of which animostics of war, and material interests at home, and upon our standing abroad, differing only in degree, is injurious like war it foring only in degree, is injurious like war it self;

The purpose of the war having been to preserve the Union and the Constitution by putting down the rebellion, and the rebellion having been suppressed, all resistance to the authority of the General Government being at an end, and the war having ceased, war measures should also cease, and should be followed by measures of peaceful administration, so that union, harmony and concordinay be encouraged, and industry, commerce, and the arts of peace revived and promoted; and the early restoration of all the States to the exercise of their constitutional powers in the National Government is indispensably necessary to the strength and the defence of the Republic, and to the maintenance of the public credit:

All such electors in the thirty-six States and nine Territories of the United States, and in the District of Columbia, who in a spirit of patriotism and love for the Union, can rise above personal and sectional considerations, and who desire to see a truly National Union of patricism and love for the Union, can rise above personal and sectional considerations, and who desire to see a truly National Union Convention, which shall represent all the States and Territories of the Union, assemble, as friends and brothers, under the national flag, to hold comneit together upon the state of the Union, and to take measures to avert the transport of the transport of the state of the Union, and to take measures to avert tates and Territories of the Chion, anexative, as friends and brothers, under the nationifiag, to hold copmed together upon the state if the Union, and to take measures to avert possible danger from the same, are speedily quested to take part in the choice of such elegates.

But no delegate will take a seat in such such as the pattern of the pattern possible danger from the same, are speedily requested to take part in the choice of such delegates.

Convention who does not loyally accept the national situation and cordially endorse the principles above set forth, and who is not at inched, in true allegiance, to the Constitu-tion, the Union, and the Government of the
